REGULATORY UNCERTAINTY CONCERNS GCs

Uncertainty about potential federal regulatory changes under the new administration is causing concern among General Counsels, as they assess what shifts may be coming and how to prepare.

ALSPs: A MISSED OPPORTUNITY FOR SOME

Many legal departments have yet to engage with Alternative Legal Service Providers (ALSPs), and some leaders remain unfamiliar with the full scope of services they now offer.

AI ADOPTION: CAUTIOUS BUT INCREASING

Legal teams are more open to exploring AI-powered solutions, though most are proceeding cautiously when it comes to full-scale adoption.

LEGAL TECH VS. LEGACY TOOLS

Despite the availability of advanced legal technology, many in-house teams still rely on basic tools like Excel for core operational activities such as matter management and reporting.

MANAGING OUTSIDE COUNSEL SPEND

Most, if not all, GCs highlighted the challenges of managing outside counsel spend and are exploring how technology solutions can help them optimise legal spend without compromising quality.
