

Post-Data Breach Response

Respond Fast. Minimise Risk. Stay Compliant.

Our Approach

When there's a data breach, every minute counts. Once forensic teams identify the data that was exposed, you need a fast, accurate way to mine your sensitive data and notify affected entities and individuals quickly and accurately.

Elevate's post-breach response services help you take the critical next steps to mitigate financial, legal, regulatory, and reputational risk. We combine legal expertise, AI-powered data mining, and proprietary processes to identify privacy issues and build a data breach notification list, allowing you to respond fast and control the cost of the breach.

Our Solutions

AI-Powered Data Mining and Legal Review

Identification and extraction of sensitive data, including credit card numbers, social security numbers, and much more, from unstructured and structured sources.

Fast Defensible Privacy Impact Assessments

Privacy impact assessments in as little as 72 hours to enable swift and compliant data breach notification and incident response, backed by a permanent team of experienced post-data breach experts and the ability to scale up a review.

Notification List Building

Advanced analytics, proprietary algorithms, and GenAI capabilities to identify sensitive data and build accurate data breach notification list with speed and precision.
